With the EHM, they can manage a professional hockey team, including players, teams, players' agent, trades and other aspects. Since its introduction in 1997, the EHM has become a fixture on the top leagues in Canada and Europe. The EHM has been used by many sports teams to improve their management skills and increase their competitiveness. The EHM has been used by sports clubs and teams, such as the Santa Fe Soccer Club, to develop their skills and culture. At the same time, the EHM is widely used by the general public and business for learning how to manage their own team.
