KEYMACRO is a utility for Windows that allows you to macro-record keystrokes and mouse clicks. It's not a replacement for other keyboard macros solutions like UltraSnip, but it's a great tool for those who want to record every keystroke to get the info they need. KEYMACRO can read and save macros from the registry, memory, desktop and clipboard. It also supports 'hotkey' and 'clipboard history', so you can save and record the last keystrokes and mouse clicks you performed. KEYMACRO has a keymap (with keys like Alt, Ctrl, Shift and Win) and a display where you can see the keystrokes and mouse clicks. Once the macro is recorded, KEYMACRO can write them to a file or other destinations, including clipboard, registry, text, HTML, XML or Windows clipboard. The last step before saving the macros is changing the keys used to perform the actions: you can choose between Ctrl, Alt, Win and Shift. The macros can be saved as.reg files that are really easy to edit and change. KEYMACRO Features: - Read and save macros from clipboard, registry, memory, desktop and more! - You can choose the registry keys where you want to save macros, or you can use the default path. - You can choose to perform the actions on Alt, Ctrl, Win and Shift (you can also choose to use all the keys or no keys). - You can have multiple macros running at the same time. - You can create hotkey macros that make shortcuts for your keystrokes. - KEYMACRO can read and write macros from the registry, memory, desktop and clipboard. - You can monitor Internet traffic, resource usage, CPU, memory and much more. - You can choose to macro-record all types of events (including taskbar buttons and windows minimization). - Macros can be saved as HTML, XML or Windows clipboard. - You can save and play back the mouse clicks. - You can copy and paste macros from the clipboard. - You can use hotkeys to repeat macros. - You can have multiple macros running at the same time. - You can export the macro to.reg file format. - You can save the macros to the clipboard, clipboard history or to a file. - You can record the mouse clicks and play them back. - You can monitor CPU usage. - You can 77a5ca646e
