The general goals of this research are: 1) to determine molecular mechanisms that control the binding of insulin or insulin analogs to their cognate receptor; 2) to develop novel, high affinity, long acting insulins and analogs using 1) in vitro mutagenesis and 2) in vivo-directed metabolism; 3) to generate mutated species that are selective for the insulin receptor versus the IGF-1 receptor; 4) to identify insulin receptor sites that are relevant to the differential interaction with classical and/or novel insulins and their analogs. We have developed novel, high affinity, long acting insulins as exemplified by one compound, (R)-5,6,7,8-tetrahydro-9-[[[2-[(phenylamino)carbonyl]amino]methyl]amino]-9H-purine-2,6-dione, that has an unrivaled duration of action. We will design and synthesize analogs of this compound with the following important characteristics: 1) the ability to be taken up by the liver where they are slowly released; 2) minimal biological activity in the pituitary and hypothalamus; 3) low biological activity in other target tissues; 4) high affinity for the insulin receptor in vitro; and 5) long lasting biological activity in vitro and in vivo. The long acting analogs will be used to gain insight into the important molecular mechanisms for binding to the insulin receptor and information relevant to the molecular biology of insulin's action. These studies will then be extended to the prototype insulin analog, B29 LysB29LysB29LysB29 (BIIB021), with the goal to generate long lasting, highly bioactive insulin analogs with selective, high affinity for the insulin receptor versus the IGF-1 receptor. The differential binding of these analogs versus B9(BIIB021) will aid us in understanding the molecular requirements for insulin and insulin analogs to interact with the insulin receptor versus the IGF-1 receptor.

Q: How does an old bottle of cologne smell after several years A friend of mine bought an old bottle of cologne in a charity shop. He has started to wear it again after years off and found that, although he likes the cologne, it is smell of plastic and there is a smell of cleaning solution which is musty. , the F2F cancellation was accepted. On the 4th of January, the CFC has announced that it has voted for CTFCO as the the United Team that would host a 4-team tournament between 2019 and 2021 with its regional qualifier and the Qualifying Tournament for the 2021 World Championship taking place in the 4th quarter of 2019. AUGUST On the 8th of August, F2F got its news that it was confirmed that its Main Event from 2019 to 2021 would take place in Ontario. The "inaugural event" was organised over 8 days (26th of July - 3rd of August) with the preliminary registration for 10 players start on the 1st of August and was held entirely online with most of the matches taking place on the 2nd of August. The final of the tournament was played on the 3rd of August, 2018 and featured CTFCO, CFCO, FRI and the famous 7th team with one of the tournament's greatest upsets being the victory of OPEN over CTFCO. CTFCO had a strong start to the tournament winning the first 5 matches of the day but then the way was open to the 2017 World Champions, Open. CTFCO then fought back to take the lead before beating FRI, CTFCO and Open in the same day which meant that the teams were playing a "mini final" against each other. The final game of the tournament was the headline game of the day, CTFCO vs OPEN. CTFCO, under CT Torpey, came out firing hitting numerous CTFCO dublines all over the back wall. The team then caused some waves of their own with CTOB also hitting a CTFCO dubline on the wall. Open then manage to connect with only 7 dublines leading to a score of (8,4,6,2,3,1,0). There was some feeling from the crowd at the moment, as CTFCO hit the following dubline but a mistake from Open and the ball was not hit into play, which meant that CTFCO would only be able to connect with a maximum of 3 dublines. Open's second dubline was not a CTFCO dubline, making the score (8,3,2,3,1,0,0) and CTFCO could not score a dubline. The next dubline was from the only 2 dublines left
