KEYMACRO is a powerful application for Windows that makes it possible for you to assign a macro to a single key on your keyboard. Why use a MACRO? Macros on Windows, either on the keyboard or created by you, can make your life much easier. Before the advent of Windows OS, simple copy/paste operations took the place of most of the advanced keyboard shortcuts (such as Copy/Cut/Paste/Paste Special). But with Windows OS, all these operations have been replaced by the fancy mouse or keyboard shortcuts that you use everyday. Your computer keyboard is now your mouse, and, therefore, it can be much easier to perform advanced or complex tasks than before. However, this change in life can be annoying at times. For example, you could have a keyboard shortcut assigned to an operation that you use all the time, but you could not reach the same shortcut by using the mouse. And, of course, you could not perform the operation with the keyboard only, since that operation was associated with the mouse. This situation just drives us to use mouse-specific and keyboard-specific shortcuts. But there's a better way to do this! This application brings the power of Windows OS to your keyboard, allowing you to create your own shortcuts! How to use the keyboard-specific shortcuts? Make your keyboard shortcut in the form of a macro. A macro is a special key sequence that does not have to be made up of any normal keyboard shortcuts such as CTRL/ALT/SHIFT. Instead, it is only made up of keystrokes that you assign to that shortcut. So, all you need to do is assign a macro to a single key on your keyboard. What does it do? When you press the key assigned to the macro, the software will activate the assigned function. It's that simple! To assign a macro to a key, follow the instructions provided in the application. Do not use any modifier keys to activate the macro, but you can use SHIFT and CTRL keys to select the key that you wish to assign a macro to. Quick Tips: This application has many features that you won't find in other keyboard shortcuts applications. Therefore, it is well worth using all its features. Besides, each feature comes with its own shortcut, which is perfect for you if you wish to assign the feature to another key. Furthermore, the application remembers each macro for the future. 1d6a3396d6
