Version:2.4 Date published:2011-10-24 Rated 5 out of 5 by Vlad from Just in time... well done! Today, you must have heard that about DNSChanger / Traffic Bot. Its very dangerous and on the way to get most users. This "DNSChanger Detector" is pretty cool! Very nice work. I've been getting this (via email) "just in time" during all our "real" tests to isolate a non-responding client. A "just in time" instruction on how to fix the problem. On Windows XP, we got the following message : "There is no diagnostic information available to the user. Setup returned: 0x800ccc8f (WIN8.1_REVISION 0e5050ff).

D, 4th Senior Division, Long Range Mortar Did the "D" stand for "Delphi", or for "Dover", or for "Dogface", or for "Daisy"? If it was the "D" for "Delphi", I was thinking that was the 2nd Division, because all their higher level infantry had the "D" in their name (Company D, Battalion D, etc.) If it was the "D" for "Dover", and I don't know why I'd think that, I was thinking that was the 5th Division. I'm thinking that is because of their insignia. If it was the "D" for "Dogface", I was thinking that was the 7th Division, because I can't find anything that says anything about the LRM being with the
