Pre-match Strategy and Tactics *Today's real-life footballers are the perfect test subjects, so we have a team of gamers along with a few sports scientists in tow to help us capture the finest details of each of their movements and the physical impact of their collisions. *The flow of the game is more fluid, tactical and free flowing, and this is reflected in the improved match engine. Player speeds are faster, distances cover a greater area and attacking play is more fluid. HyperMotion Technology *Our ever-growing understanding of player movement has allowed us to create an intuitive new engine that can manage and adapt to changing conditions. This requires a massive increase in the amount of information that can be collected from the players. This information is fed to the match engine and provides us with a brand new method of interacting with players. *Using motion capture data captured from real players in motion, our team of lead scientists have managed to take the animation of players in FIFA and create something more cinematic. *On-ball actions are especially intuitive. The ins and outs of retaining the ball and transitioning into attack are captured in play. *In addition to the high-end pass types introduced in FIFA Ultimate Team, you can also feel the different types of passes in the game.
