Smoking has been implicated as a risk factor for postoperative nausea and vomiting (PONV). We tested the hypothesis that ondansetron would be less effective in reducing PONV after general surgery in smokers than nonsmokers. We studied 90 patients after general anesthesia for laparoscopic cholecystectomy using a randomized, double-blind design. Patients were excluded if they had a history of nausea or vomiting within the past 24 hours, an increased risk for PONV (American Society of Anesthesiologists classification score > or = 2) or were addicted to alcohol or drugs. Patients were randomly assigned to receive ondansetron 0.15 mg/

(AP Photo/Andrew Harnik) Ex-White House aide Hope Hicks arrives to Capitol Hill for closed-door testimony with House Intelligence Committee in Washington, Wednesday, June 7, 2018. Hicks said her attorney convinced her to appear. (AP Photo/Andrew Harnik) WASHINGTON (AP) — President Donald Trump’s former chief White House communications director Hope Hicks has told House investigators the president is considering a pardon for former national security adviser Michael Flynn, according to a person familiar with her closed-door testimony. The person asked not to be identified because the information is confidential. The White House didn’t immediately comment. Hicks testified before the House Intelligence Committee on Tuesday, according to a person familiar with her testimony who spoke on the condition of anonymity to discuss private conversations. The person didn’t specify how long Hicks had been considering the prospect of a pardon or what the discussions looked like, or who had asked her. ADVERTISEMENT The New York Times first reported Hicks’ contention. The president has said he does not plan to use pardons for anyone involved in the Russia investigation. His son Donald Trump Jr. sent an email to Donald Trump Sr. saying, “The younger the better” in response to an article about a possible pardon for Flynn, who pleaded guilty to lying to the FBI. During the 2016 presidential campaign, the president asked Hicks, then an intern, to deliver messages and as a result she became a regular presence at Trump Tower, even accompanying the president on foreign trips. She has become one of the most visible and powerful aides in the West Wing, serving as a gatekeeper, enforcer and recorder of the president’s broadside attacks on
