mediocre player. I just don't believe that most of the guys on the team played well during the stretches that impacted the sweep, and the ones that didn't were abysmal anyway. While the Thunder in general played poorly (especially defensively), none of the guys from the Pacers' point of view were much better than that. Look, I like Young, but to be perfectly honest, I've always had a problem with his lack of effort and his unwillingness to commit. I think I have a problem with that across the board with the Thunder, and their recent tendency to hide in the corners more than their historical trend. And that's not a question of whether or not he's a good player. It's just that I'm genuinely sick of dealing with that kind of shit. So yeah, I like TJ, but he's not the answer for me. The Thunder are far better players than they were last season. The issue is that they're incredibly poor defensively. And when you turn down the volume to mute the poor defense, when I watch the Thunder last season, I generally noticed Young or Harden play one or the other really well for stretches. I'm having a hard time remembering too many times that I thought TJ was playing well. I like Young, and if he's playing well, that's awesome, but he's really far from that right now. I saw a lot of potential but not a lot of trust from management, and that's what I want to see from this team. I get it, the guys who commit offensively are far better than those who don't. I just don't see how for this team. I don't know how he's going to become a better player with more possessions, I'd rather see fewer and better. I don't know. It's easy to say "Young is not the answer." The problem is, I've been waiting for someone to be the answer since Durant joined the team. I was hoping it would 1cdb36666d

In the wizard where I'm trying to configure the Maven 3.0 plugin, I have not checked the "Allow Maven 3.0 or newer versions" box. The plugin fails (because it doesn't support a.m.o.p.3.0) with this error message:

org.apache.maven.plugin.MojoExecutionException: Plugin maven-3-0 or newer is required How can I configure a Jenkins build using maven 3.0.5? A: If you set the checkbox to allow use maven-3.0 or newer versions and then continue the process, you should get a warning message saying: Maven 3.0 or newer versions have been deprecated. Please use maven-2.2.1 or later versions. If you have no need for that new version of maven, it's safe to ignore that message. Can't it snow in Texas? Can't it snow in Texas? AUSTIN, Texas — Can it snow in Texas? Yes, we think so. Or at least that's the gist of the fall season forecast issued by the National Weather Service out of Corpus Christi. But no, you can't do that. It can't snow in the state of Texas. The law says so. Actually, it's the law in about 30 states, though when it comes to Texas, the snow law in our great state is unusually specific. "If it snows it's a crime to not leave your house," said Ron Thorn of the Texas State Emergency Management Agency. But it's too early to say when it will snow here. The forecast calls for light snow developing in the Panhandle on Thursday night. It was then expected to spread into the Dallas-Fort Worth Metroplex overnight. The remainder of the week
